Goldman Sachs Variable Insurance Trust

GOLDMAN SACHS ASSET MANAGEMENT 32 OLD SLIP, NEW YORK, NEW YORK 10005

Shareholder Letter

Dear Shareholders:

This report provides an overview on the performance of the Goldman Sachs Variable Insurance Trust — Growth and Income Fund for the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002.

Market Review

The first half of 2002 was marked by a defensive mood, as the markets absorbed the shock of escalating violence in the Middle East and its impact on oil prices. Furthermore, the market was characterized by investor skepticism brought on by corporate earnings disappointments, apprehension of further disturbing accounting news, and fear of additional terrorist attacks. Companies with challenging cash flow outlooks suffered severely, as investors showed an unwillingness to stand by those businesses that overbuilt capacity in recent years and now face extreme competitive pricing issues.

In market declines such as the one we have recently seen, investors often sell for emotional reasons, which usually results in valuations decreasing within industries as investors engage in the market equivalent of "throwing out the baby with the bath water." As prepared investors, it is during these times that we seek to upgrade our portfolios, as higher quality companies become available to us at very attractive prices. The Value team avoided some of the market's major "torpedoes," which we attribute to our strong research governance. We adhere to a principle of not compromising on our fundamental research process, which can help us in our attempt to put only quality names into our portfolios. In summary, we will continue to emphasize balance sheet quality, cash flow stability, and companies with superior management teams.

Performance Review

Over the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002, the Fund generated a -4.18% cumulative total return. Over the same time period the Fund's benchmark, the Standard & Poor's 500 Index (with dividends reinvested) generated a -13.16% cumulative total return.

Strong stock selection was the main driver of the Fund's outperformance versus the benchmark during the reporting period. The Fund's quality bias and emphasis on price and prospects, not merely price, has been well founded during the challenging investing environment in 2002.

The Fund's holdings in the Industrials and Consumer Staples sectors were particularly strong, with General Dynamics Corp. and ConAgra Foods, Inc. leading the way in their respective areas. General Dynamics has continued to make strategic acquisitions that have helped it to become more of a dominant market player, and the rise in military spending has benefited its industry. ConAgra's profits increased during its fiscal fourth quarter on improved sales and earnings growth. Bank of America, the Fund's second largest holding, also enhanced results. Through its banking subsidiaries and various non-banking entities the company provides a diversified range of banking and non-banking financial services and products. Bank of America has been experiencing earnings per share growth and continues to find ways to help expand its asset base and strengthen relationships with current customers.

Citigroup, Inc. was a negative contributor to performance, due in part to investors concern over its amount of bad debt exposure, particularly in regards to WorldCom. We see the current problems as short term and continue to hold Citigroup due to the strength of its diverse business mix across products lines and international markets.

A new position added to the portfolio was Ocean Energy, Inc. We believe the company is a successful energy producer with strong future growth potential. Ocean Energy is in the unique position of owning its resources, and has the ability to significantly increase its excess reserves, attributes that are hard for other producers to duplicate. We also believe that the management team is disciplined in its capital allocation decisions and is committed to reducing capital expenditures relative to its cash flow.

Investment Objective

The Fund seeks long-term growth of capital and growth of income through a diversified portfolio of equity securities.

^{*} Opinions expressed in this report represent our present opinions only. Reference to individual securities should not be construed as a commitment that such securities will be retained in the Fund. From time to time, the Fund may change the individual securities it holds, the number or types of securities held and the markets in which it invests. References to individual securities do not constitute a recommendation to the investor to buy, hold or sell such securities. In addition, references to past performance of the Fund do not indicate future returns, which are not guaranteed and will vary. Furthermore, the value of shares of the Fund may fall as well as rise.

Outlook

We expect continued market volatility as we move into the second half of the year, fueled by concerns over earnings, further accounting issues, and fear of terrorism. We believe the best way to navigate through an uncertain market is through good fundamental research — you must know what you own. In-depth financial analysis and understanding the numbers is absolutely essential in this environment, and we believe we're particularly well suited to identify these opportunities. Our team is structured around "centers of excellence," whereby each team member has industry/sector specific responsibility. Not only does this provide more in extensive industry expertise, but also allows each member to be more focused in our search for undervalued situations.

We thank you for your investment and look forward to serving your investment needs in the future.

Performance Summary

June 30, 2002 (Unaudited)

The following graph shows the value as of June 30, 2002, of a $10,000 investment made on January 12, 1998 (commencement of operations). For comparative purposes, the performance of the Fund's benchmark (the Standard and Poor's 500 Index ("S&P 500 Index")) is shown. This performance data represents past performance and should not be considered indicative of future performance which will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. These performance fluctuations will cause an investor's shares, when redeemed, to be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or the redemption of fund shares.

Shareholder Letter

Dear Shareholders:

This report provides an overview on the performance of the Goldman Sachs Variable Insurance Trust — CORE U.S. Equity Fund for the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002.

Market Review

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2002, the S&P 500 Index returned –13.16%. The index posted negative performance in 9 out of 13 sectors, with Telecommunications (–35.76%) posting the largest absolute negative returns. The heavily weighted Technology sector contributed (weight times performance) most negatively to benchmark performance. Among the positive performers, Basic Materials posted the best absolute returns.

Performance Review

Over the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002, the Fund generated a –14.17% cumulative total return, underperforming that of its benchmark, the Standard & Poor's 500 Index (with dividends reinvested).

Among our CORE themes, Momentum and Profitability were the biggest positive contributors. Valuation also contributed positively. Fundamental Research slightly enhanced excess returns, while Earnings Quality was essentially flat. Stock selection was negative overall, most notably in the Telecommunications sector. Even so, positive stock selection in 6 of the 13 sectors, especially in Technology, offset some of the losses.

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Fund seeks long-term growth of capital and dividend income through a broadly diversified portfolio of large-cap and blue chip equity securities representing all major sectors of the U.S. economy.

The portfolio employs a disciplined approach that combines fundamental investment research provided by Goldman, Sachs & Co.'s Global Investment Research Department and consensus opinions with quantitative analysis generated by the Asset Management Division's proprietary model. This quantitative system evaluates each stock using many different criteria, including valuation measures, growth expectations, earnings momentum and risk profile. It also objectively analyzes the impact of current economic conditions on different types of stocks to determine where the emphasis should be placed. While maintaining a profile close to that of the benchmark, those stocks ranked highly by both the quantitative model and the Goldman Sachs Global Investment Research Department are selected to have overweight positions in the portfolio.

Outlook

Looking ahead, we continue to believe that cheaper stocks should outpace more expensive ones and good momentum stocks should do better than poor momentum stocks. We also prefer names favored by fundamental research analysts and companies that have sustainable earnings and strong profit margins. As such, we anticipate remaining fully invested and expect that the value we add over time will be due to stock selection, as opposed to sector or size allocations.

We thank you for your investment and look forward to your continued confidence.

Shareholder Letter

Dear Shareholders:

This report provides an overview on the performance of the Goldman Sachs Variable Insurance Trust — CORESM Small Cap Equity Fund for the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002.

Market Review

The Russell 2000 Index fell 4.70% in the six-month period ending June 30, 2002. Within the Index, the Technology and Health Care sectors were the biggest contributors (weight times performance) to the decline, while strong returns in Financials curbed some of the losses.

Performance Review

Over the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002, the Fund generated a 1.20% cumulative total return. Over the same time period the Fund's benchmark, the Russell 2000 Index (with dividends reinvested) generated a -4.70% cumulative total return.

Of the CORE themes, Profitability, which favors companies with sound fundamentals, such as high profit margins and good operating efficiency, was the biggest positive contributor to excess returns relative to the benchmark. Momentum also performed well for the six-month period, after struggling in the fourth quarter 2001. Valuation continued its positive streak, contributing significantly to positive excess returns. Fundamental Research and Earnings Quality were up only slightly for the period.

Stock selection was a positive contributor in 8 of the 13 sectors that make up the Index. The best relative returns were generated in the Technology and Health Care sectors, while it lagged the benchmark most notably in Consumer Noncyclicals.

Investment Objective

The Fund seeks long-term growth of capital, primarily through a broadly diversified portfolio of equity securities of U.S. issuers with risk characteristics similar to those of the Russell 2000 Index.

The portfolio employs a disciplined approach that combines fundamental investment research provided by Goldman, Sachs & Co.'s Global Investment Research Department and consensus opinions with quantitative analysis generated by the Asset Management Division's proprietary model. This quantitative system evaluates each stock using many different criteria, including valuation measures, growth expectations, earnings momentum and risk profile. It also objectively analyzes the impact of current economic conditions on different types of stocks to determine where the emphasis should be placed. The portfolio construction process evaluates stocks based on their overall expected return and their contribution to portfolio risk. The final portfolio is the one that has the highest potential return for the targeted amount of risk.

^{*} Opinions expressed in this report represent our present opinions only. Reference to individual securities should not be construed as a commitment that such securities will be retained in the Fund. From time to time, the Fund may change the individual securities it holds, the number or types of securities held and the markets in which it invests. References to individual securities do not constitute a recommendation to the investor to buy, hold or sell such securities. In addition, references to past performance of the Fund do not indicate future returns, which are not guaranteed and will vary. Furthermore, the value of shares of the Fund may fall as well as rise.

Outlook

Looking ahead, we continue to believe that cheaper stocks should outpace more expensive ones and good momentum stocks should do better than poor momentum stocks. We also prefer names favored by fundamental research analysts and companies that have sustainable earnings and strong profit margins. As such, we anticipate remaining fully invested and expect that the value we add over time will be due to stock selection, as opposed to sector or size allocations.

We thank you for your investment and look forward to your continued confidence.

Performance Summary

June 30, 2002 (Unaudited)

The following graph shows the value as of June 30, 2002, of a $10,000 investment made February 13, 1998 (commencement of operations). For comparative purposes, the performance of the Fund's benchmark (Russell 2000 Index) is shown. All performance data shown represents past performance and should not be considered indicative of future performance which will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. These performance fluctuations will cause an investor's shares, when redeemed, to be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or the redemption of fund shares.

Shareholder Letter

Dear Shareholders:

This report provides an overview on the performance of the Goldman Sachs Variable Insurance Trust — Capital Growth Fund for the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002.

Market Review

During the reporting period it continued to be a challenging environment for U.S. large-cap growth managers. There exists a stark disconnect between the health of the economy and the relative strength of the stock market. In the past, investors have believed that stock price movement could be a leading indicator of the future state of the economy. Over the past few months, the fragile geopolitical state, coupled with skepticism of corporate accounting practices, have led investors to place a higher risk premium on U.S. equities. While in the short term this continued discrepancy could lead to irrationally low stock price levels, we strongly believe that high quality U.S. businesses will be favorably recognized over a longer period of time.

Performance Review

Over the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002, the Fund generated a -16.81% cumulative total return. Over the same time period the Fund's benchmark, the Standard & Poor's 500 Index (with dividends reinvested) generated a -13.16% cumulative total return.

The Fund's underperformance relative to the benchmark was largely due to its overweight in the Media & Communications area. In addition, the Fund was negatively impacted by its holdings in the Cyclicals sector. On the other hand, the Fund was helped by its overweight in the Consumer Staples group.

The Fund's Media & Communications holdings suffered a difficult stretch, as the market questioned the timing of an advertising turnaround. In addition, Media & Communications companies have recently been closely scrutinized for their use of the EBITDA (earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortization) method of accounting, following the scandal at WorldCom. While it is appropriate to place a severe discount on companies that use EBITDA in conjunction with the manipulation of accounting figures, we believe that it is irrational to have businesses with clean accounting practices included in this group.

Nonetheless, several of the Fund's investments in this space saw their stock prices plummet. However, it's important to note that there is a clear difference between business leaders who practice fraudulent accounting and those who use EBITDA to reflect the true value of their business.

General Electric Co. and Tyco International Ltd., both within the Cyclicals sector, detracted from results over the six-month period. In recent months large conglomerates have been forced to make their businesses more transparent to investors. This is a direct result of the prevailing cynicism surrounding companies that pursue acquisition strategies or have multiple business lines. The news stories and allegations against Tyco's senior management impaired its ability to do business, which lowered the value of its franchise. This weakened our confidence in the company, and thus, we completely eliminated the position.

The Fund benefited from its overweight in the Consumer Staples sector. It's quite likely that businesses in this particular area have been rewarded for their relatively less complex financial statements. Consumer Staples businesses typically sell smaller ticket items, particularly in the household products, personal care, and food/beverage industries. Many of these firms exhibit the characteristics we seek in high quality growth companies, such as established brand names and pricing power. In addition, companies in this group that sell goods overseas were helped by the weakening U.S. dollar.

Investment Objective

The Fund seeks long-term growth of capital, primarily through investments in a diversified portfolio of companies that the Fund's investment advisor believes to have long-term capital appreciation potential.

Outlook

There have been recent indications that point to a modest recovery in the growth of the U.S. economy. However, this has been in stark contrast to the continued decline in U.S. equities. A number of exogenous variables have been working against companies and, as such, they have not seen their intrinsic values recognized by investors. These variables include the unsettled geopolitical situation, corporate accounting fraud, and threats of domestic terrorism. In general, we believe U.S. economic growth should continue to be gradual, with corporate investment still lagging other areas of the economy. With interest rates at historically low levels, we expect business leaders to boost investment accordingly.

As always, we will seek to invest in dominant franchise companies that we believe should come out of a recession with improved competitive positions. Additionally, strong operational leverage in these particular companies should lead to positive earnings performance as economic activity increases. Although there are factors that will continue to weigh on the market, going forward we anticipate that robust business growth will eventually be reflected in equity valuations.

We thank you for your investment and look forward to your continued confidence.

Performance Summary

June 30, 2002 (Unaudited)

The following graph shows the value as of June 30, 2002, of a $10,000 investment made on April 30, 1998 (commencement of operations). For comparative purposes, the performance of the Fund's benchmark (the Standard and Poor's 500 Index ("S&P 500 Index")) is shown. This performance data represents past performance and should not be considered indicative of future performance which will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. These performance fluctuations will cause an investor's shares, when redeemed, to be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or the redemption of fund shares.

Dear Shareholders:

This report provides an overview on the performance of the Goldman Sachs Variable Insurance Trust — Mid Cap Value Fund for the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002.

Market Review

The first half of 2002 was marked by a defensive mood, as the markets absorbed the shock of escalating violence in the Middle East and its impact on oil prices. Furthermore, the market was characterized by investor skepticism brought on by corporate earnings disappointments, apprehension of further disturbing accounting news, and fear of additional terrorist attacks. Companies with challenging cash flow outlooks suffered severely, as investors showed an unwillingness to stand by those businesses that overbuilt capacity in recent years and now face extreme competitive pricing issues.

In market declines such as the one we have recently seen, investors often sell for emotional reasons, which usually results in valuations declining within industries as investors engage in the market equivalent of "throwing out the baby with the bath water." As prepared investors, it is during these times that we seek to upgrade our portfolios, as higher quality companies become available to us at very attractive prices. The Value team avoided some of the market's major "torpedoes," which we attribute to our strong research governance. We adhere to a principle of not compromising on our fundamental research process, which can help us to put only quality names into our portfolios. In summary, we will continue to emphasize balance sheet quality, cash flow stability, and companies with superior management teams.

Performance Review

Over the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002, the Fund generated a 6.64% cumulative total return. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark, the Russell Midcap Value Index (with dividends reinvested) generated a 2.86% cumulative total return. Strong stock selection was the main driver of the Fund's outperformance versus the benchmark. Our quality bias and emphasis on price and prospects, not merely price, has been well founded during the challenging investing environment in 2002.

The Fund's strongest returns were in the Consumer Staples, Financials, and Energy sectors. The Fund's largest holding was also its top performer — Pioneer Natural Resources Co. Pioneer, an oil and gas exploration and production company, benefited from its positive returns from new wells. In the Consumer Staples sector, Fortune Brands, Inc. and ConAgra Foods, Inc. enhanced results. ConAgra, the second largest U.S. food producer, performed well in the first half of 2002. The company enjoys strong cash flow generation and its management continues to reduce capital expenditures. Among the most decentralized and active acquirers, ConAgra is attempting to reduce costs and centralize more functions. We believe the company will benefit from its potential to divest its less profitable, commodity-oriented businesses.

Technology stocks, such as Arrow Electronics, Inc., were the main detractors from performance over the period. This poor performance has occurred as many technology companies experienced declines in sales, due to a slowdown in demand. In addition, Arrow Electronics' stock suffered after the resignation of its CEO.

The Fund eliminated its position in Archer Daniels Midland Co. during the period. Although the company reported a better than usual quarter, we became concerned with management actions and uncertainty surrounding allegations that it was fixing prices for ethanol. Since management integrity cannot be compromised in our portfolios, we sold the stock. A new position in the Fund is PartnerRe Ltd., a multi-line reinsurance company, that we felt was selling at a discount to its peers. We feel the management team is very efficient and disciplined about their capital allocation. In addition, PartnerRe spreads its risk among different businesses and its management team is very focused on maintaining a sustainable return on equity.

Investment Objective

The Fund seeks long-term growth of capital, primarily through equity securities of companies that the Fund's investment adviser believes to have long-term capital appreciation potential.

^{*} Opinions expressed in this report represent our present opinions only. Reference to individual securities should not be construed as a commitment that such securities will be retained in the Fund. From time to time, the Fund may change the individual securities it holds, the number or types of securities held and the markets in which it invests. References to individual securities do not constitute a recommendation to the investor to buy, hold or sell such securities. In addition, references to past performance of the Fund do not indicate future returns, which are not guaranteed and will vary. Furthermore, the value of shares of the Fund may fall as well as rise.

Outlook

We expect continued market volatility as we move into the second half of the year, fueled by concerns over earnings, further accounting issues, and fear of terrorism. We believe the best way to navigate through an uncertain market is through good fundamental research — you must know what you own. In-depth financial analysis and understanding the numbers is absolutely essential in this environment, and we believe we're particularly well suited to identify these opportunities. Our team is structured around "centers of excellence," whereby each team member has industry/sector specific responsibility. Not only does this provide more in extensive industry expertise, but also allows each member to be more focused in our search for undervalued situations.

As in the past, we thank you for your continued confidence.

Performance Summary

June 30, 2002 (Unaudited)

The following graph shows the value as of June 30, 2002, of a $10,000 investment made on May 1, 1998 (commencement of operations). For comparative purposes, the performance of the Fund's benchmark, the Russell Mid Cap Value Index, is shown. This performance data represents past performance and should not be considered indicative of future performance which will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. These performance fluctuations will cause an investor's shares, when redeemed, to be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or the redemption of fund shares.

Shareholder Letter

Dear Shareholders:

This report provides an overview on the performance of the Goldman Sachs Variable Insurance Trust — International Equity Fund for the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002.

Market Overview

There were several key themes driving the international equity markets during the first half of 2002. The predominant theme at a macro level was of global economic recovery, with many leading economic indicators rising significantly throughout the period. The second theme was a general sense of investor unease in the aftermath of the Enron collapse. Investors focused heavily on the reliability of accounting information. Under this unsure corporate environment, companies that surprised the market with negative news and preannouncements were heavily punished and, in several cases, this presented opportunities for investors to take advantage of the market's over-reaction.

Tied to this issue was a continued focus on the high levels of outstanding corporate debt. These concerns were exacerbated by the high profile bankruptcy of Global Crossing Ltd., a U.S. communications provider, and the continued efforts of NTL, Inc., a European media company, to restructure its current debt program. News towards the end of the period from WorldCom that it had capitalized operating expenses shook markets once again. As a result, investors have become increasingly skeptical regarding corporate accounting standards.

Performance Review

Over the six-month period that ended June 30, 2002, the Fund generated a –4.34% cumulative total return. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark, the MSCI EAFE Index (unhedged with dividends reinvested) generated an aggregate total return of –1.38%.

As these returns indicate, it has continued to be a challenging period in the financial markets. In this environment, defensive sectors continued to outperform at the expense of more economically sensitive cyclical sectors.

In terms of specific holdings, there were several stocks that generated notable results. For example, Bank of Ireland performed well, as it benefited from the strong Irish economy, which continues to show solid momentum. The firm's management team has maintained its focus on its retail business, and its diversified asset management business demonstrates strong growth potential. Kao Corp., a Japanese household and chemical product producer, also enhanced results. The company's strong performance was due to more positive Japanese consumer figures and the continued strength of the yen versus the U.S. dollar. Data continued to signal that Japanese consumer trends are beating expectations, a phenomenon that we believe is typical at this stage of the economic cycle. European Aeronautic Defence and Space Co. (EADS), a France-based aviation company that owns Airbus, also performed well. EADS was a beneficiary of the overall recovery in global passenger traffic. The market is now reacting to the increased probability that Airbus will meet its order target, which lies in the range of 300-325 planes for this year. We remain optimistic regarding the company's prospects and remain very comfortable with its management team.

Investment Objective

The Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation, primarily through equity securities of companies that are organized outside the United States or whose securities are principally traded outside the United States.

^{*} Opinions expressed in this report represent our present opinions only. Reference to individual securities should not be construed as a commitment that such securities will be retained in the Fund. From time to time, the Fund may change the individual securities it holds, the number or types of securities held and the markets in which it invests. References to individual securities do not constitute a recommendation to the investor to buy, hold or sell such securities. In addition, references to past performance of the Fund do not indicate future returns, which are not guaranteed and will vary. Furthermore, the value of shares of the Fund may fall as well as rise.

Outlook

Reviewing the broad investment landscape, we believe that economic fundamentals remain sound. The most likely scenario remains that we will see some economic recovery during the second half of the year. Though the recovery may be more tepid than we've been expecting, the chance of a double-dip recession is remote, particularly given the absence of the sort of banking crisis that undid the United States in the early 90s and Japan for the entire decade. Although precise opinions differ, the steam has undoubtedly come out of equity market valuations, which now look compelling relative to bonds in any historical context. Although this doesn't necessarily indicate the direction of the markets over the next three months, it should be reassuring for long-term investors.

We thank you for your investment and look forward to serving your investment needs in the future.

Performance Summary

June 30, 2002 (Unaudited)

The following graph shows the value as of June 30, 2002, of a $10,000 investment made on January 12, 1998 (commencement of operations). For comparative purposes, the performance of the Fund's benchmark, Morgan Stanley Capital International Europe, Australasia and Far East Index ("MSCI EAFE (unhedged)") is shown. This performance data represents past performance and should not be considered indicative of future performance which will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. These performance fluctuations will cause an investor's shares, when redeemed, to be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or the redemption of fund shares.

⁽a) Assumes investment at the net asset value at the beginning of the period, reinvestment of all distributions and a complete redemption of the investment at the net asset value at the end of period. Total returns for periods less than one full year are not annualized. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or the redemption of fund shares.

⁽b) Annualized.

⁽c) Calculated based on the average shares outstanding methodology.

Notes to Financial Statements

June 30, 2002 (Unaudited)

1. ORGANIZATION

Goldman Sachs Variable Insurance Trust (the "Trust") is a Delaware business trust registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("the Act") as an open-end, management investment company. The Trust includes Goldman Sachs Growth and Income Fund ("Growth and Income"), Goldman Sachs CORE U.S. Equity Fund ("CORE U.S. Equity"), Goldman Sachs CORE Small Cap Equity Fund ("CORE Small Cap Equity"), Goldman Sachs Capital Growth Fund ("Capital Growth"), Goldman Sachs Mid Cap Value Fund ("Mid Cap Value") and Goldman Sachs International Equity Fund ("International Equity"), collectively, "the Funds" or individually a "Fund". Each Fund is diversified under the Act. On May 1, 2002, the Goldman Sachs CORE Large Cap Growth Fund, Goldman Sachs Global Income Fund and Goldman Sachs Internet Tollkeeper Fund were terminated.

Shares of the Trust may be purchased and held by separate accounts of participating life insurance companies for the purpose of funding variable annuity contracts and variable life insurance policies. Shares of the Trust are not offered directly to the general public.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Funds. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that may affect the reported amounts. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

A. Investment Valuation — Investments in securities traded on a U.S. or foreign securities exchange or the NASDAQ system are valued daily at their last sale price on the principal exchange on which they are traded. If no sale occurs, securities are valued at the last bid price. Debt securities are valued at prices supplied by independent pricing services, broker/dealer-supplied valuations or matrix pricing systems. Unlisted equity and debt securities for which market quotations are available are valued at the last sale price on valuation date, or if no sale occurs, at the last bid price. Short-term debt obligations maturing in sixty days or less are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value. Securities for which quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value using methods approved by the Board of Trustees. In addition, the impact of events that occur after the publication of market quotations used by a fund to price its securities but before the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange will not be reflected in the Fund's next determined NAV unless the Trust, in its discretion, determines to make an adjustment in light of the nature and significance of the event, consistent with applicable regulatory guidance.

- B. Securities Transactions and Investment Income Securities transactions are recorded as of the trade date. Realized gains and losses on sales of portfolio securities are calculated using the identified-cost basis. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date, net of foreign withholding taxes where applicable. Interest income is determined on the basis of interest accrued, net of foreign withholding taxes where applicable, premium amortized and discount earned. In addition, it is the Funds' policy to accrue for estimated capital gains taxes on foreign securities held by the Funds, which are subject to such taxes.
- C. Federal Taxes It is each Fund's policy to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute each year substantially all of its investment company taxable income to its shareholders. Accordingly, no federal tax provisions are required. Income distributions and capital gains distributions, if any, are declared and paid annually.

The characterization of distributions to shareholders for financial reporting purposes is determined in accordance with income tax rules. Therefore, the source of a portfolio's distributions may be shown in the accompanying financial statements as either from net investment income or net realized gain on investment transactions, or from paid-in-capital, depending on the type of book/tax differences that may exist as well as timing differences.

- D. Deferred Organization Expenses Organization-related costs are being amortized on a straight-line basis over a period of five years.
- E. Expenses Expenses incurred by the Trust that do not specifically relate to an individual portfolio of the Trust are generally allocated to the portfolios on a straight-line or pro rata basis depending upon the nature of the expense.
- F. Foreign Currency Translations The books and records of each Fund are maintained in U.S. dollars. Amounts denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars on the following basis: (i) investment valuations, foreign currency and other assets and liabilities initially expressed in foreign currencies are converted each business day into U.S. dollars based upon current exchange rates; (ii) purchases and sales of foreign investments, income and expenses are converted into U.S. dollars based upon currency exchange rates prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions.

Net realized and unrealized gain (loss) on foreign currency transactions will represent: (i) foreign exchange gains and losses from the sale and holdings of foreign currencies; (ii) gains and losses between trade date and settlement date on investment securities transactions and forward exchange contracts; and (iii) gains and losses from the difference between amounts of interest, dividends and foreign withholding taxes recorded and the amounts actually received. The effect of changes in foreign currency exchange rates on securities and derivative instruments are not segregated in the Statement of Operations from the effects of changes in market prices of those securities and derivative instruments, but are included with the net realized and unrealized gain or loss on securities and derivative instruments. Net unrealized foreign exchange gains and losses arising from changes in the value of other assets and liabilities as a result of changes in foreign exchange rates are included as increases and decreases in unrealized appreciation/depreciation on foreign currency related transactions.

- G. Segregation Transactions As set forth in the prospectus, certain Funds may enter into derivative transactions to seek to increase total return. Forward foreign currency exchange contracts, futures contracts, written options, when-issued securities and forward commitments are examples of such transactions. As a result of entering into those transactions, the Funds are required to segregate liquid assets on the accounting records equal to or greater than the market value of the corresponding transactions.
- H. Repurchase Agreements Repurchase agreements involve the purchase of securities subject to the seller's agreement to repurchase them at a mutually agreed upon date and price. During the term of a repurchase agreement, the value of the underlying securities, including accrued interest, is required to equal or exceed the value of the repurchase agreement, including accrued interest. The underlying securities for all repurchase agreements are held in safekeeping at the Funds' custodian or designated subcustodians.

3. AGREEMENTS

Pursuant to the Investment Management Agreement (the "Agreement"), Goldman Sachs Asset Management ("GSAM"), a business unit of the Investment Management Division of Goldman, Sachs & Co. ("Goldman Sachs"), serves as the investment adviser for Growth and Income, CORE U.S. Equity, CORE Small Cap Equity, Capital Growth and Mid Cap Value Funds. Goldman Sachs Asset Management International ("GSAMI"), an affiliate of Goldman Sachs, serves as the investment adviser for the International Equity Fund. Under the Agreement, the advisers, subject to the general supervision of the Trust's Board of Trustees, manage the Funds' portfolios (GSAM and GSAMI are each referred to herein as the "investment adviser"). As compensation for the services rendered pursuant to the Agreement, the assumption of the expenses related thereto and administering the Funds' business affairs, including providing facilities, the investment adviser is entitled to a fee, computed daily and payable monthly at an annual rate of the average daily net assets as follows:

3. AGREEMENTS (continued) Fund	Fee
ruiu	ree
Growth and Income	0.75%
CORE U.S. Equity	0.70
CORE Small Cap Equity	0.75
Capital Growth	0.75
Mid Cap Value	0.80
International Equity	1.00

The investment advisers have voluntarily agreed to limit certain "Other Expenses" of the Funds (excluding management fees, taxes, interest, brokerage fees, litigation and indemnification and other extraordinary expenses) to the extent that such expenses exceed .25%, .20%, .25%, .25%, .25% and .35% of the average daily net assets of Growth and Income, CORE U.S. Equity, CORE Small Cap Equity, Capital Growth, Mid Cap Value and International Equity, respectively.

Goldman Sachs also serves as the transfer agent of the Funds and has voluntarily waived a portion of its transfer agent fees. Goldman Sachs may discontinue or modify this waiver in the future at its discretion. Effective September 1, 2002, the fees charged for such transfer agency services will be calculated daily exclusive of the "Other Expense" limitation and payable monthly at an annual rate of 0.04% of the average daily net assets of each Fund. Goldman Sachs serves as the distributor of each Fund's shares at no cost to the Funds.

For the six months ended June 30, 2002, the investment adviser reimbursed and waived certain expenses and the Funds have entered into expense offset arrangements with the custodian resulting in a reduction in expenses as follows (amounts in thousands):

Fund	Investment Adviser Reimbursement	Custody Fee Reduction	Transfer Agent Fee Waiver	Total
Growth and Income	$32	$ 1	$7	$ 40
CORE U.S. Equity	_	1	7	8
CORE Small Cap Equity	52	1	7	60

3. AGREEMENTS (continued)

At June 30, 2002, the amounts owed to affiliates were as follows (in thousands):

Fund	Management Fees	Transfer Agent Fees	Total
Growth and Income	$25	$1	$26
CORE U.S. Equity	92	1	93
CORE Small Cap Equity	36	1	37
Capital Growth	11	1	12

International Equity	14	1	15

4. PORTFOLIO SECURITY TRANSACTIONS

Cost of purchases and proceeds of sales and maturities of long-term securities for the six months ended June 30, 2002, were as follows:

Fund	Purchases	Sales and Maturities
Growth and Income	$22,426,158	$20,051,356
CORE U.S. Equity	76,390,196	59,874,523
CORE Small Cap Equity	40,561,414	36,279,484

Mid Cap Value	247,819,105	139,285,943
International Equity	9,337,468	8,777,268

Forward Foreign Currency Exchange Contracts — Growth and Income, Capital Growth, Mid Cap Value and International Equity may enter into forward foreign currency exchange contracts for the purchase or sale of a specific foreign currency at a fixed price on a future date as a hedge or cross-hedge against either specific transactions or portfolio positions. International Equity may also purchase and sell forward contracts to seek to increase total return. All commitments are "marked-to-market" daily at the applicable translation rates. The Funds record realized gains or losses at the time the forward contract is offset by entry into a closing transaction or extinguished by delivery of the currency. Risks may arise upon entering into these contracts from the potential inability of counterparties to meet the terms of their contracts and from unanticipated movements in the value of a foreign currency relative to the U.S. dollar.

The contractual amounts of forward foreign currency exchange contracts do not necessarily represent the amounts potentially subject to risk. The measurement of the risks associated with these instruments is meaningful only when all related and offsetting transactions are considered. At June 30, 2002, the International Equity Fund had sufficient cash and/or securities to cover any commitments under these contracts.

Futures Contracts — The Funds may enter into futures transactions to hedge against changes in interest rates, securities prices, currency exchange rates or to seek to increase total return. Futures contracts are valued at the last settlement price at the end of each day on the board of trade or exchange upon which they are traded. Upon entering into a futures contract, the Funds are required to deposit with a broker an amount of cash or securities equal to the minimum "initial margin" requirement of the associated futures exchange. Subsequent payments for futures contracts ("variation margin") are paid or received by the Funds daily, dependent on the daily fluctuations in the value of the contracts, and are recorded for financial reporting purposes as unrealized gains or losses. When contracts are closed, the Funds realize a gain or loss which is reported in the Statements of Operations.

The use of futures contracts involve, to varying degrees, elements of market and counterparty risk which may exceed the amounts recognized in the Statements of Assets and Liabilities. Changes in the value of the futures contract may not directly correlate with changes in the value of the underlying securities. This risk may decrease the effectiveness of the Funds' strategies and potentially result in a loss.

At June 30, 2002, the following futures contracts were open as follows:

Fund	Туре	Number of Contracts Long	Settlement Month	Market Value	Unrealized Gain (Loss)
CORE U.S. Equity	S & P 500 Index	6	September 2002	$1,485,150	$(20,267)
International Equity	Eurex Deutschland 50	7	September 2002	$ 217,841	$ (4,554)
	Tokyo Stock Exchange	2	September 2002	170,108	(12,514)
				$ 387,949	$(17,068)

For the six months ended June 30, 2002, Goldman Sachs earned brokerage commissions from portfolio transactions including futures executed on behalf of the Funds in the following amounts:

Fund	Brokerage Commissions
Growth and Income	$ 1,466
CORE U.S. Equity	890
CORE Small Cap Equity	220
Capital Growth	96
Mid Cap Value	22,462
International Equity	767

Securities Lending — Pursuant to exemptive relief granted by the SEC and the terms and conditions contained therein, the Funds may lend their securities through their agent, Boston Global Advisers (BGA) — a wholly owned subsidiary of Goldman Sachs, to certain qualified borrowers including Goldman Sachs. The loans are collateralized at all times with cash and/or securities with a market value at least equal to the securities on loan. As with other extensions of credit, the Funds bear the risk of delay on recovery or loss of rights in the collateral should the borrower of the securities fail financially.

Both the Funds and BGA receive compensation relating to the lending of the Fund's securities. The amounts earned by the Funds for the six months ended June 30, 2002, is reported parenthetically on the Statements of Operations. The table below details the following items as of June 30, 2002: 1) market value of the securities on loan by Funds, 2) the amount of cash collateral received for loan transactions, 3) BGA earnings as securities lending agent, 4) compensation earned by the Funds from lending its securities to Goldman Sachs and 5) the amount payable to Goldman Sachs upon return of securities loaned (collateral value). The Funds invest the cash collateral received in connection with securities lending transactions in the Enhanced Portfolio of Boston Global Investment Trust, a Delaware Business Trust. The Enhanced Portfolio is exempt from registration under Section 3(c)(7) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 and is managed by GSAM. The Enhanced Portfolio invests in high quality money market instruments. The Funds bear the risk of incurring a loss from the investment of cash collateral due to either credit or market factors.

5. JOINT REPURCHASE AGREEMENT ACCOUNT

The Funds, together with other registered investment companies having management agreements with GSAM or their affiliates, transfer uninvested cash into joint accounts, the daily aggregate balance of which is invested in one or more repurchase agreements.

At June 30, 2002, the CORE U.S. Equity, CORE Small Cap Equity, Capital Growth and Mid Cap Value Funds had undivided interests in the repurchase agreements in the following joint account which equaled $700,000, $200,000, $300,000, and $9,700,000, respectively, in principal amount. At June 30, 2002, the following repurchase agreements held in this joint account were fully collateralized by Federal Agency obligations.

6. LINE OF CREDIT FACILITY

The Funds participate in a $350,000,000 committed, unsecured revolving line of credit facility. Under the most restrictive arrangement, each Fund must own securities having a market value in excess of 400% of the total bank borrowings. This facility is to be used solely for temporary or emergency purposes. The interest rate on borrowings is based on the federal funds rate. The committed facility also requires a fee to be paid by the Funds based on the amount of the commitment which has not been utilized. During the six months ended June 30, 2002, the Funds did not have any borrowings under this facility.

7. ADDITIONAL TAX INFORMATION

As of the most recent fiscal year end December 31, 2001, the capital loss carryforwards and certain timing differences on a tax basis were as follows:

	Growth and Income Fund
Timing differences (post October Losses)	$(1,207,395)
Capital loss carryforward	(3,584,131)
Capital loss carryforward years of expiration	2006-2009

At June 30, 2002, the Funds' aggregate security unrealized gains and losses based on cost for U.S. federal income tax purposes was as follows:

	Income Fund
Tax Cost	$39,276,546
Gross unrealized gain Gross unrealized loss	2,037,387 (2,479,186)
Net unrealized security gain (loss)	$ (441,799)

The difference between book-basis and tax-basis unrealized gains (losses) is attributable primarily to wash sales.
